ESSAY*(500 words or less--provide as an attachment)*SUBJECT: “Your Values in a Tough Decision”

The underground utility and construction industry often requires difficult choices: balancing safety, cost, schedule, community impact, and environmental concerns. In your career, you will face situations where there is no “perfect” answer, but you still have to decide and live with the consequences.

Essay Prompt:

Describe one real situation in your own life when you had to make a difficult decision that did not have a clear “right” answer. It does not need to be related to construction, but it must be a real event that you personally experienced.

In your essay, you must:

1. Describe the situation with enough specific detail (people involved, place, timing) to show that it actually happened to you.
2. Explain the options you considered and the trade-offs between them (for example: honesty vs. loyalty, safety vs. convenience, short-term gain vs. long-term impact).
3. Describe how you made your decision, including the values or principles that guided you.
4. Connect this experience to a future situation you might face in your desired career (for example, safety vs. schedule, cost vs. quality, short-term profit vs. public welfare) and explain how you would apply the same values in that context.

Essays that stay general, describe a hypothetical situation, or do not clearly explain a real, personal decision you made will not receive full credit.
